

As the graduates of the June, 1934, Senior Class leave the doors of Lincoln High, the ideals of Abraham Lincoln stand before them to guide them forward with unerring accuracy.

Graduated — Educated

TO SOME the two words may mean the same; to others their meaning is very different. Many a man with a high school diploma is far from educated. Many a man who never went through a high school has a fine education. How is it to be with you? Lincoln High has tried to start you toward a real education by arousing an interest, by developing habits of study, by holding up ideals of service and loyalty. The real test of your education will come through your continuing to follow, in the years to come, those paths in which your school has tried to start you. May you steadily advance along the course toward a real education.

—NATHAN H. WEEKS, Principal.

Another Year!

IS THIS a year of great hopes and ideals? Is this a year of rest and contentment? Is this a year of coasting and following a line of least resistance?

Only through service and devotion to a cause does one test life.

—A. C. HUTCHENS, Vice Principal.

Au Revoir!

WITH your eyes beyond the stars and your hand upon the controls meet the uncertain changes of life with calm assurance that only you, yourself, are responsible for success or failure. Keep your ideals of service to others and never lose the vision of what lies beyond the horizon.

President Adams' Address

TODAY we stand on the height of a long desired goal. Even as men exult when they achieve a long desired victory, as a weary aspirant for fame rejoices when he has forced recognition from the world, as a mountain climber pauses to catch his breath and to regain the even beating of his heart when he has reached the summit, so we, the class of June 1934, exult and rejoice as we pause to recapture our poise, to survey the mountain we have just scaled, and to glimpse the heights which are before us.

Ever since man has lived upon this planet, mountain climbing has been a popular diversion. Written history has no account of our ancestor's thrill of triumph as he first stood upon some promontory watching the sun emerge from below the distant horizon and "bathe the earth with light." What thoughts must have struggled for expression as he sought adequately to tell others of his rare experience!

Historical accounts have come to us of Olympus, Sinai and Olivet in ancient times, and of the Alps, the Andes, and the Alleghenies in more modern times. Many of our personal friends have told us of climbing Pike's Peak and Long's Peak in our own western range.

But what is this steep mountain that we have been ascending together? Most of the time as we passed along, the path, smoothed by families and faculty, seemed to be almost level. It is only by looking back down our trail that we realize our height.

Never to be forgotten landmarks along that perspective indicate our passage. All the way back we see classroom after classroom. Each has made its impression upon us, and we, in varying degrees, have left behind us marks of our upward climb. On one side is the athletic field. Many of us feel that we know every inch of that territory for we have given our efforts to build a foundation upon which you who follow must continue to work. Then, too, we see various places, where council groups have left marks and signs which we challenge you to deepen and perfect.

Now we noticed that from the day we started our ascent there have been flowers blooming along the way. A poet said, "God smiled, and there were flowers." So, these are smiles, the kindly faces of friends made and ties formed that will remain with us as we scale new passages.

These, then, fellow classmates, are our treasures: the scholarship won in those classrooms, the service given and powers gained on that athletic field, the leadership and character developed in those council groups, and the flowers of friendship garnered along the way. These bright colored trophies are ours, yours and mine, concealed beneath these gray gowns, hidden from the gaze of our fellows, but ours, nevertheless.

And are we going to be content with our present position as far as the future is concerned? No. Whether in homes or in offices, in colleges or in business, in the city or in the country, we are determined ever to attain new heights and broader views.

*Onward then and upward
May we ever hold,
Waving from each banner
Our dear Maroon and Gold,
May we keep these floating
On each breeze so high;
True ideals denoting,
As we say, "Goodbye!"*

June 1934 Senior Class Officers

A PAL COMMENTS ON EACH OF THESE LEADERS

SIDNEY ADAMS, president of the June 1934 class, and one of the most outstanding athletes in the history of Abraham Lincoln High School, has proven his ability as a leader all through his school life by his popularity and his ableness to undertake a great responsibility and accomplish it with favorable results. Much of Adams' success may be attributed to hard and untiring work which on many a night has kept him up until the wee hours of the morning in an endeavor to get his classroom studies, and to get the work done that falls on him as sports editor of the Railsplitter publications.

Ambition is another keynote of Adams' success. He only wishes that he had his high school days to go through again as he would take even a harder course than his present one in order to prepare himself better for later life.

ALLEN JOSS, better known as "Al," a member of the June 1934 graduating class, is an interesting vice president of his class.

He entered Lincoln six years ago from Maple Grove elementary school.

Al became outstanding in his tenth year, being a member of the Lincoln High yell leading squad and leading in other activities. Being fond of sports he reported for gold and maroon basketball. Since then he has played regularly on A. C. Hutchens' golf team. He has also received two monograms, one for yell leading, the other for junior basketball, with a monogram this spring for golf. In addition to his sports activities he is a member of the senior student council this semester.

Joss' hobbies are golf and fishing. He is interested in blondes and usually Al is seen around the halls in odd hours with one blond or another.

After graduation he expects to continue his golf game and he may become another Bobby Jones—who knows?

CORINNE KERCHBERGER, secretary of the June '34 senior class, is one of the most deserving students in Lincoln High. She is liked by everyone and was elected the most popular girl in Lincoln High. "Kerchy," as she is known by most of us, is very energetic and ambitious. She is not afraid of work and enjoys doing things for the school.

Whenever something is to be done and no one is there to do it, Kerchy steps in and helps out. She has been a "peach" on the Railsplitter staff, doing everything from typing to editing.

Kerchy is a blond, 5 feet 4 inches tall, and enjoys good humor.

Corinne is also a member of the National Honor Society.

LOWELL SHROCK, treasurer of the June 1934 graduating class, entered Abraham Lincoln High School six years ago from Washington elementary school, and has achieved in his Lincoln High career one of the greatest honors the school can give—membership in National Honor Society.

Lowell, in his last year at Lincoln, has made a great showing. In 12A Lowell received a major monogram for swimming. With little or no experience in swimming he gave plenty of competition in the pool.

Shrock was elected by the June '34 graduating class as treasurer of the class.

Lowell, in back years, has been president of his home room, council member, and was out for football and basketball.

He is six feet tall, with wavy hair, studious, and very quiet, but in his years at Lincoln, Lowell has done his share to uphold the school standards.

June 1934 Thoughts

By GRACE RYDBERG, JUNE '34

Our happy high school days are gone,
 Forever from us have they passed,
 Foundation stones have been well laid
 Materials for the structure massed.
 With Leader Weeks as our contractor
 And teachers too, as foremen wise,
 We've tried to build a sure foundation
 And so resist what storms arise.

Our books have served as worthy tools,
 With them we've steadily worked on
 Mid weary trials and heartaches sad
 Sometimes when hope was almost gone.
 Our friends have roused in us ideals
 Toward which, with unity, we've aimed
 Until we have for your inspection
 A groundwork worthy of the name.

Through years our study has served as mortar
 To seal our knowledge firm and fast

So that when future needs occur
 We'll have the means to perform the task.
 Some nobly plan imposing structures
 With gables many and great bronze doors,
 While others happy, content will dwell
 In cottages built on single floors.

And now farewell to our contractor
 And to our foremen, firm but fair,
 For we must sever ties that bind us
 And each alone his burdens bear.
 With those who follow close behind us,
 We leave these leaders, faithful all,
 To help them mould a sure foundation
 Whereon to build strong, sturdy walls.

May this, the basis of our structure,
 Guide those erecting buildings new
 Who find on close examination
 We laid our groundwork straight and true.

Good Record

Under the coaching of Arden I. McClain, the basketball team showed some very good work toward placing a very high record for Lincoln High. This team won ten and lost five games throughout the season.

The first two games against Guthrie Center and Knoxville were thrillers, because they were played in overtime periods. Both games were won by Lincoln 33-39, and 30-28. The following game was played against Valley Junction on the Railsplitter's court. This game was easily won by McClain's boys.

The basketball fans will never forget the first game between Roosevelt and Lincoln. The Railsplitters started out with a bang, Sid Adams dropped two long shots from the center of the floor and Sam Giannobule sank two from the side, Lincoln led 8-0. Before the game was over, Marcellus McMichael, Roosevelt ace, uncovered long shots and put his mates ahead to win the game. The games between East and Lincoln were evenly balanced, Lincoln winning the first game 18-16, and East High came back to even the series, 23-16.

North High, boasting a fast team, came through to win over Lincoln, 33-12, in the first game. Lincoln, still raring to go, came back hard and fast, to beat North High for the first time since 1926 to the score of 20-16. In this game a quick pass from Giannobule to Adams won the game in the last five seconds to play. The Perry-Lincoln game was easily won by Lincoln, 38-16. In this game Stuart Geil, the Lynx 6 foot 4 inch center, played an excellent game, with Bob Keefer and Dick Locke, two sharp shooting guards, sinking baskets from all angles. Lincoln finished the season by downing East High, Guthrie Center, twice; Knoxville, twice; North High, Perry, Valley Junction, twice; and Ankeny in the sectional tournament. Losing to East High, North High, Roosevelt, twice and East in the sectional tournament.

Swimming Prospects

Although the Lincoln High swimming team failed to win a meet last season, Coach Lorin Graaff, instructor of swimming, is looking forward for a winning team in the next few years.

Graaff is teaching the juniors the strokes of swimming, and expects them to be the future winning team.

The team will lose three members this June by graduation. They include: Don Woodard, Lowell Shrock and Kenneth Schartner. Woodard and Shrock swim backstroke and Schartner swims free style.

The remaining members of the team are Jack Mains and Ralph Figg, backstrokers; Jack Woods and Charles Parker, breaststrokers, and Art Wilson, Bill Downey, Clifford Fisher, Carl Heidenreich, Bill Bowman and Max Shelton, freestylers.

Jack Mains, Jack Woods and Max Shelton are expected to show up well next year, and be the point makers for the team.

Tracksters Busy

Floyd Thompson, 12A student and Lincoln's all-around athlete, was the principal point getter of the track team this spring. Thompson won places in the short dashes and the 440-yard run. His outstanding performance of the season was in the Grinnell relays when he captured first place in the 440-yard dash.

The Lynx runners competed in relays at Stuart, Grinnell, Drake, the district meet at Valley Junction, and the city indoor and outdoor meets.

Thompson and Reid VanDorn, another member of the track squad, will be lost to the team next season because of graduation.

Golf Victories

The Lynx golf team has been splitting even, so far this season, by going down before the strong Roosevelt four 9-3 and then coming through and defeating North by the same score, 9-3.

In the Roosevelt meet, James Watson, number one man, came through for the only victory, by defeating Cordingly, $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$, on the Grandview course. In the meet with North, Watson was the only one to lose while Joss, Moon and DeVolt won three points each. Meets with East and other schools are yet to be arranged, while the city and state meet is not very far off.

Lincoln is expected to place high in both the city and state meets with the team shooting and averaging 75 for the eighteen holes. Lincoln placed second in the state meet during 1933.

Numerous awards were given to 12A journalists competing in national contests. Honorable mentions were won by Gladys Cross, in National Quill and Scroll ad writing; Corinne Kerchberger, in feature writing at the 1934 Medill Press convention, award being scholarship to Northwestern University School of Journalism; and Felix Tamasi, in sports writing at the Iowa High School Press Association, sports writing in National Quill and Scroll, and National Quill and Scroll headline writing.

A national project was headed by the Lincoln High journalism department when Gladys Cross and John Kauzlarich, both graduating seniors, were co-editors of the 1934 National High School Band contest program which is issued Thursday at the national convention in Des Moines.

The presidency of the Iowa High School Press Association was conferred on Lincoln High and led by June 1934 graduates.

Sidney Adams, brilliant three semester sports writer; Arthur Cunningham, clever advertising manager, and James Mauro, super circulation manager are Railsplitter leaders responsible for closing a successful year in the journalism department.

Dramatic Art Students

Third row: Cadel Pettit, Don Pilmer, Herbert Gunson, Donald Barnard, Carroll Wright, Samuel Giannobule, Sefer Greene Westrope, dramatic coach; Maxine Morris, Jack Crippen and George Trissel.

"Smilin' Through"

"Smilin' Through," by Allan Langdon Martin, was presented by the dramatics classes of Lincoln High, May 11, under the direction of Sefer Greene Westrope. The cast of characters included:

John Carteret	Robert Allred
Dr. Owen Harding	James Watson
Ellen	Wilman Newby
Kathleen Dungannon	Esther Russell
Willie Ainley	Edward Brown
Kenneth Wayne	Algie Moriarity
Mary Clare	Jean Lewis
Jeremiah Wayne	George Cordaro
Moonyeen Clare	Esther Russell

Guests at the Wedding:

Francis Bender	Clara Patterson
Henry Buccello	Elna Stickler
Don Pilmer	Ireka Harrison
Don Davis	Joyce Mahlow
Sarah Mason

The play is based on a love tragedy occurring fifty years ago. On the night of her wedding, a beautiful young bride-to-be is shot and killed by a rejected suitor, who intends to kill the man she is to marry.

She vows that she will come back in spirit to undo the wrong. And then, as time passes, a boy and girl of these families, out of the present generation, fall in love and are separated by their elders. Her spirit returns to aid them in their romance.

Between laughs and tears this beautiful fantastic tale of a great romance winds its way onward and upward to a gripping climax.

A realistic performance was given by the Lincoln dramatists with every character giving a fine portrayal. Robert Allred, in the principal role, won the audience with his fine characterization of the old uncle.

Esther Russell, as the beautiful heroine, was well suited to the part, while James Watson, as the old doctor, fitted his role equally well.

The rest of the cast gave excellent support and made "Smilin' Through" a successful climax to Sefer Green Westrope's eight years of dramatic coaching in Lincoln High School.

Eight Years of Dramatics

Numerous plays were presented by members of these clubs for special assemblies and school functions. Plays were also presented at various neighboring grade school benefit entertainments.

Two full-length plays were presented here in our auditorium for the benefit of the Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association, and for five different years, talented alumni returned to present their annual alumni play.

This year, the final pioneering step has been accomplished in the establishment of definite accredited courses in dramatics. In these classes, the students were initiated into all the interesting phases of "putting on a play."

By means of this fundamental instruction, drama classes were able to construct scenery, costumes, perfect the lighting effects, which served as a splendid background for the able acting done in their last semester project, "Smilin' Through."

The period of pioneering and struggle is over and we foresee for this department a long period of worthwhile activity and accomplishment.

THE PAST EIGHT YEARS have been primarily a period of pioneering in the dramatic department. It has been the purpose of this department to not only initiate its members into the various activities of play-acting and play-producing, but also to attempt to build a better appreciation for worthwhile drama among students of Abraham Lincoln High school.

This was first attempted by means of several dramatic clubs, engaged in different dramatic activities, which culminated each semester in a public performance.

Senior Class History

Abraham Lincoln High school is celebrating its eleventh year of existence. The June 1934 class is the sixteenth Lincoln High class to finish their twelfth year of schooling.

Nathan H. Weeks has been principal since Lincoln High was established. Among the many able instructors in this institution are three who will finish their teaching in June.

They include Mrs. Edna McCaull Bohlman, efficient economics and civics instructor; Mrs. Sefer Greene Westrope, for eight years dramatic coach and English instructor, and Mrs. Sarah F. Pollard, girls' adviser. Mrs. Bohlman and Mrs. Pollard have been instructors at Lincoln for nine years.

The first class graduated from Lincoln in January, 1927, with twenty-eight graduates. The June, 1932, class was the largest with one hundred seniors; June, 1933, class with ninety-seven was second, and the June, 1934, class third with ninety-three happy graduates.

Thirteen graduates obtained the highest honors given in Lincoln High by being elected to National Honor Society. They included: Kenneth Miller, president; Ruth Brown, secretary; Felix Tamasi, vice president, and Ethel Hulten, treasurer. Other members are Gladys Cross, John Kauzlarich, Corinne Kerchberger, James Mauro, Elizabeth Morris, Theron Peterson, Madonna Robertson, Grace Rydberg and Lowell Shrock.

In the dramatic department, Robert Allred, Donald Barnard, George Cordaro, Grace Nittler, Esther Russell, James Watson and Carroll Wright, have been consistent workers in both production and presenting of plays.

Some of the graduates have given their time and talent to make the music department successful. They include: Arlys Barngrover, Francis Bender, Ruth Brown, Joyce Mahlow, Grace Rydberg, Fred Timmons and Reid Van Dorn.

Other graduates have devoted much of their time to athletics including Sidney Adams, Robert Allred, Robert Dennett, Samuel Giannobule, Allen Joss, John Kauzlarich, Kenneth Miller, Milton Moon, Kenneth Schartner, Felix Tamasi, Floyd Thompson, James Watson, Donald Woodard and Carroll Wright.

In the field of art, George Cordaro, Marie Davis and Ireka Harrison have shown up best.

The Senior A's graduating in June '34 are: Arlyn Bogard, Katherine Buhner and Virginia Lenhart.

Goodbye Old Lincoln High

Tune: "O Sole Mio"

By JOYCE MAHLOW

Goodbye old Lincoln

We're leaving you

Hearts ache at parting

Dear friend from you.

Goodbye, goodbye old Lincoln,

Dear friend so true, dear friend so true.

When other classes in these short years

Went out your portals

Eyes bathed in tears.

We thought, we thought, old Lincoln

We'd linger long, we'd linger long.

But now, old Lincoln

We're going too.

Our thoughts will always turn back to you.

Farewell, farewell, old Lincoln.

We're going now, we're going now.

Business World Chosen by Majority of Seniors

Peering into the future of the arduous and ambitious seniors, it is found that the business world will claim the majority of them.

One graduate is set on becoming a successful housewife, while another bright young girl's ambition is to become a detective.

The field of journalism will claim three ambitious students. Two will become co-editors of some local newspaper, while the other wants to become circulation manager of an eight-page weekly.

Others have chosen the following fields of work: Sidney Adams, coach; Robert Ailred, lawyer; Mary Amodeo, stewardess; Frank Anderson, lawyer; Albert Andriano, traveling; Ruth Archer, housewife; Kenneth Atkinson, salesman; Donald Barnard, advertising manager; Arlys Barngrover, interior decorator; Francis Bender, musician; Arlyn Bogard, farmer; Michael Bonacci, officer in navy; Roger Brightman, printer; Ruth Brown, musician; Katherine Buhner, librarian; Ernest Burgess, aviator; Enis Cassettari, artist; Ada Cervetti, beauty operator; Roger Cook, aviator; George

The MONTOUR STUDIO has just enjoyed the busiest season in its history.

This was due in part to the usual splendid patronage of Lincoln High Graduates.

Due to the aggressiveness of MONTOUR STUDIO and our desire to offer the very latest and best in things photographic, we will announce, this fall, a momentous contribution of great importance. Students, graduates, and the general public will be able to secure something never before obtainable in photography.

This fall announcement will serve notice that the very finest and newest is still obtainable at your photographic headquarters.

In the meantime MONTOUR STUDIO offers to all students and undergraduates special discounts on all photographs.

Honor Society

Each semester students from the 11A, 12B and 12A classes who possess the four qualifications of character, scholarship, leadership and service, are elected to Abraham Lincoln chapter of National Honor Society.

Five per cent of the 11A class, ten per cent of the 12B class and fifteen per cent of the 12A class are eligible to election. A special assembly is held each semester at which the newly elected members are initiated.

The National Honor Society emblem is a shield with a torch and bears the inscription, "The National Honor Society," and the initials, "C. S. L. S.," which stand for character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Odessa Farley, senior English instructor, has been faculty adviser of this organization since the Lincoln High chapter was formed in 1926.

1934 Season Lacks Punch

The 1934 baseball season proved disastrous for the Lincoln High Maroons.

With only five veterans returning, Coach McClain rounded a team into shape for the opening game with Grimes, but something seemed to be lacking. At the change of batting in the last half of the seventh inning, Lincoln had the bases loaded with only one out, but the next two batters fanned out and so Lincoln ended up the game on the short end of a 3 to 2 score, in spite of the three-hit pitching of Russell Gibbel.

In the second game, which was played with Perry, errors caused a home run for Perry, which should have been an easy putout. As it turned out, this was the margin of Lincoln's defeat, as the game ended with the Railsplitters again on the short end of the score, 4 to 3.

The following week, Lincoln journeyed to the Catholic High field and, because of errors, came home on the short end of a 7 to 5 score.

In the fourth game of the season, Lincoln was beaten in an extra inning game, 5 to 4, by Roosevelt. Bob Huston, winning pitcher, laid down a perfect bunt in the eighth inning which scored Applequist with the winning run.

Russell Gibbel, Railsplitter pitcher, fanned fifteen Roughriders and allowed only five scattered hits. Bob Huston, the winning hurler, fanned ten Railsplitters and allowed six hits. In the fifth game, Lincoln finally hit its stride and downed the Grimes team by the score of 13 to 9. In this game, Tamasi recorded three hits out of three times at bat. Lincoln tripped out to Roosevelt for the next game and, due to several errors, also dropped that game, by the score of 13 to 11. The Lincoln team led 9 to 2 until the fourth inning when Roosevelt tied up the score and then forged ahead into a good lead in the next two innings. In the last inning Lincoln scored two runs which made the score 13 to 11, and also had the bases filled but the next two Railsplitters fanned out and so ended Lincoln's big chance. The following week, Lincoln encountered the North High nine and went down to defeat before a barrage of hits, 11 to 1. Gallagher and Stein traded off pitching for North while Gibbel and Kauzlarich were the Railsplitter's hurlers.
